Returns Are in: The People Have Spoken

For the first time in Arkansas that I know of a county has voted to abolish the office of County School Supervisor. Seven of the state's 75 counties have eliminated the Supervisor, but they did it by negotiation. In our county of Hempstead, however, it was a campaign issue in yesterday's school election.

Herbert M. Stephens of Blevins, pledged to abolish the County School Supervisor office, defeated Dr. Forney G. Holt for the county-at-large post on the County Board of Education, by a vote of 1,187 to 875.

With Mr. Stephens' election we still have but two on the five-man County Board who are pledged to fire the Supervisor, the other pledge being Ralph Lehman, elected from Hope School District 1-A in 1959.

But the people have spoken on the direct issue, in a county-wide race that polled 2,062, phenomenal for a school election. Therefore we feel at least one of the three uncommitted Board members will heed the election signal and come over to our side, giving the abolition movement control of the Board — and terminating the services of Supervisor Elmer Brown. In effect it will give him a year-and-a-half notice, for he holds a contract until June 30, 1963.

Hope Star has run this two months' campaign against the County School Supervisor office under the terms of Act 159 of 1957, titled "Abolition of Office of County Supervisor." This Act was supposed to expedite the business of firing Supervisors, but up to the Hempstead campaign only seven of the 75 counties had been able to do so.

I advised The Associated Press today that all of our campaign editorials, rejoinders from the opposition, and the legal citations as prepared by Attorney James H. Pilkinton for The Star, would be issued shortly as a pamphlet or handbook on "How to Get Rid of the County School Supervisor." We're going to mail it free to every daily and weekly newspaper in Arkansas — and to anyone else who can use it.

There is one vicious fault with Act 159 of 1957. Although the legislature said it was only trying to help us it very definitely threw a road-block in the way of reform when it authorized the zoning of a county for representation on the County Board of Education, which is the body that hires or fires the Supervisor.

Thus each of the school districts of Spring Hill, Washington and Blevins has one member on the County Board who is nominated from and voted on exclusively in his particular district, comprising a majority of the five-man Board. But the electors of Hope, comprising 42% of Hempstead's population, may vote on only two of the five positions — the representative from Hope School District 1-A, elected in 1959; and the county-at-large representative, who was elected yesterday.

This is as neatly a stacked deck of cards ever encountered outside of Las Vegas — and it took all the resources of your newspaper and an informed and aroused electorate to win the battle yesterday.

As we said earlier, this is the opening gun of a state-wide campaign, to which we are contributing all that we have learned in the Hempstead county battle. And the No. 1 lesson, I am sure, is this:

While the battle over the County School Supervisor office wears a school name it is actually a political fight — and a major one. I'll say this for Supervisor Elmer Brown and all his counterparts over the state: They are experienced and smart politicians — and when you try to move them out you'll find they know all the tricks of political strategy and unsettling propaganda. Like the business of: (1) Switching their candidate from Saratoga to Hope to pick up votes in the most populous area; and (2) Stirring up the rural districts with reported threats to move all the schools to Hope.

But the main fault at law is the zoning provision in Act 159 of 1957. That's restrictive and undemocratic — and it ought to be corrected by the legislature.

Full Scale War Breaks Out in Katanga

By JOHN LATZ

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Air Forces went into action today in the fighting between the United Nations and Katanga.

The UN announced two of its 15 jets had destroyed a Katanga jet and that three other Katanga planes in an aerial cannon attack on Kolwezi base.

On the other side, a Katanga plane—a bomber converted from a German-made Dornier transport—raided the main Elisabethville airport held by U.N. troops, and dropped three bombs. A U.N. spokesman said there were no serious casualties or damage.

It was the second day of fighting brought on by Katanga resistance to a U.N. mandate to pacify the Congo. The U.S. Air Force was cooperating with the United Nations by giving transport assistance, but Britain was declaring the U.N. forces have no right to impose a political solution by force.

In any case, it was evident that the U.N. command, reinforced with jets from Sweden, India and other nations, was able to make itself felt in the air this time as it was unable to do in September. At that time one or two Katanga jets succeeded in cowing some of the U.N. ground forces.

The U.N. command said that two Indian Canberras attacked the Kolwezi base and left four Katanga planes in ruins, including a Fouga jet fighter.

A fuel depot and the tower at the strategic base were damaged, an announcement issued at Leopoldville said.

The U.N. spokesman said a two-engine Dornier of the Katanga air force was sighted, but ducked away before the U.N. planes.

Protects You in Christmas Rush

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Think you might get maimed in the Christmas shopping rush?

A travel insurance agency here—California Secure-Trip—has made provisions for it. A spokesman said Tuesday some of the agency's policy-vending machines will issue a $1 policy paying up to $5,000 to holders who lose life, sight or limb in holiday bargain-basement brawls.

Soviet Budget Record for Military

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government today announced a record-breaking 1962 budget, including a staggering hike in military spending of almost 50 per cent over that originally planned in 1961.

The original 1961 figure was boosted tremendously last July because of U.S. military measures taken to meet the Berlin defense crisis, Soviet Premier Khrushchev said then.

The over-all budget for 1962 totals 81.9 billion rubles, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, which began a session in the Grand Kremlin Palace today.

Garbuzov told the delegates defense expenditures in 1962 would total 13.4 billion rubles, or 16.7 per cent of the total, as compared with 9.22 billion rubles originally budgeted for 1961.

At the official rate of exchange, one ruble equals $1.11.

The new amount allotted to the Soviet armed forces is more than a billion rubles more than the total allotted on both a regular and emergency basis during 1961.

But this is no longer emergency financing, and it indicated the Soviet government expects world tension to stay at a high pitch during the coming year.

In the related field of science, which includes most programs of weapon development, the budget figure was set at 4.3 billion rubles. He reported a surplus of 1.6 billion last year it was 3.0 billion.

(The United States budgeted $46.6 billion for defense in 1962. However, comparison of Soviet and American budgets is almost impossible. Many Soviet military expenses are buried in allocations ostensibly for civilian production.)

The 1962 budget is 3.6 billion rubles bigger than last year's, but Garbuzov said the government actually planned to spend only 90.3 billion rubles.

He reported a surplus of 1.6 billion rubles for 1961 also.

The Supreme Soviet is certain to approve the budget before conclusion of its session, which also will discuss the nation's 1962 economic plan and approve changes in the civil law code.

Arkansan Elected

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Education Commissioner Arch Ford has been elected vice president and president-elect of the National Council of Chief State School Officers. Ford was notified of his election to the post Tuesday. He will become president of the 55-member council next November.

Mena Youth Admits He Is 'Ghost'

MENA, Ark. (AP)—A tearful 15-year-old boy admitted Tuesday he was the "ghost" behind all the weird troubles which confronted his grandparents for the past few years.

Charles Elbert Shaeffer admitted the hoax first to Sheriff Bruce Scoggin and later to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shinn, with whom he lives on a farm near here, the sheriff reported.

The mysterious moving of furniture, books hurled through the air, strange voices in the middle of the night and the like reached a peak over the weekend and finally drove the Shinnns from the home.

Young Shaeffer told officers he began tricking his grandparents several years ago but recent publicity "caught me by the tail like a bobcat" and he couldn't make himself stop.

"I didn't mean to hurt no one," the boy told Scoggin.

No charges were filed.

The grandparents expressed relief over finding the cause of their bedevilment.

All Around Town By The Star Staff

Down at the Courthouse while waiting for returns on the school election to come in you hear many things such as victorious Herbert Stephens saying he was disappointed in the vote in his home town of Blevins. . . . when reminded that a couple of Blevins men were telling that abolishing the office of examiner meant abolishing rural schools in consolidations. . . . he said, Yes, I knew of it but I thought my home town folks had more faith in me than that. . . . they should know I'd never go along with any such thing. . . . take away the vote in Saratoga area and Stephens would have won by a landslide. . . . one man who knows politics said that it certainly wasn't a vote of personalities but he did believe that Dr. Holt got many votes for keeping the county examiner. . . . he figures many didn't want to keep a county examiner, Mr. Brown or anybody else, but they just would not vote against Mr. Holt.

In Washington — Ozon district there was no tax increase proposed, yet the existing 34 mill tax was voted out 61 to 51. . . . this means the Quorum Court will have to levy the tax to keep the district in operation. . . . apparently the voters became confused over the Hope issue. . . . anyway bond commitments won't let the tax be eliminated.

Anyone have some old bar bells around the house. . . . Coach John Pierce is anxious to acquire a few sets for physical education classes. . . . just contact Coach Pierce at the school or at his home.

The Golden Age Club meets at the Youth Center Thursday, Dec. 7, at 2 p.m. . . . all members are urged to attend.

This is to inform young David Wright that his letter to Santa Claus has been duly forwarded.

Bill Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Andrews, has been promoted to first lieutenant. . . . he is currently stationed in Hawaii.

Stacy going around a local rural community that a certain school board member who handled a petition to get a mass name on the school ballot, worked hard and faithfully for him. . . . then in his own excitement cast his ballot for the wrong man. . . . He is now said but wiser. . . . incidentally the man he voted for won.

JFK Calls for Big Reduction in Tariffs

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy called today for a lowering of tariffs in a "new and bold" program to frustrate Communist plans for economic encirclement of the West.

He urged U.S. cooperation with the European Common Market along with lower tariffs to stimulate trade among friendly nations.

If the nations of the West can agree "on a common program of action as extraordinary in economic history as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was unprecedented in military history," the President said, "the long-range Communist aim of dividing and encircling us all is doomed to failure."

"I am not proposing—nor is it either necessary or desirable—that we join the Common Market, alter our concepts of political sovereignty, establish a 'rich man's' trading community, abandon our traditional most-favored nation policy, create an Atlantic free trade area or impair in any way our close economic ties with Canada, Japan and the rest of the free world," he said.

Kennedy picked a conference of industrialists to preview in broad terms the authority he will seek from Congress to give him greater freedom in bargaining for tariff favors.

"That authority would reduce levies on some U.S. imports and increase foreign competition with U.S. industry."

But Kennedy said in a speech prepared for the National Association of Manufacturers congress of American industry: "Economic isolation and political leadership are wholly incompatible."

He said that reciprocal cuts in tariffs on both sides of the Atlantic would increase U.S. sales abroad and thus strengthen both this country and its allies.

He called for economic cooperation between the United States and the European Common Market, an association of six nations in which Great Britain has applied for membership. Some 90 per cent of free world industrial production may soon be concentrated in these two great markets, he said.

"I am proposing, in short, a new American trade initiative which will make it possible for the economic potential of these two great markets to be harnessed together into a team capable of pulling the full weight of our common military, economic and political aspirations," Kennedy said.

The President confirmed speculation that he would ask Congress for power to bargain with other nations for tariff reductions by such entire categories of goods as industrial equipment or textiles, for example, instead of item-by-item.

Tariff negotiations under the reciprocal trade agreements law now are limited to a tit-for-tat easing of barriers on single goods. That law expires next June.

"It must not simply be renewed," Kennedy said. "It must be replaced."

The President did not give any particulars on the authority he wants, but he left no doubt that he would launch at once his own campaign for a greater flow of international trade.

In direct reply to such critics as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Kennedy emphasized that he was not advocating that the United States join the Common Market with France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands

Texarkanian to Be Named U. S. Judge

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—U.S. District Judge John E. Miller confirmed today that Charles Conway of Texarkana will be the new U.S. attorney for the Western District of Arkansas.

Charles W. Atkinson of Fayetteville has resigned effective at the close of business Friday.

Miller said he would enter an order Friday, designating Conway as Atkinson's temporary successor. Although the appointment by Miller is officially temporary, Conway is expected to continue in the job.

A permanent appointment will be by President Kennedy, subject to ratification by the Senate.

Apparently reliable sources, both in Arkansas and Washington, have said for several months that Conway has been decided on for the permanent appointment.

Atkinson took the job during the former Republican administration. He is returning to Fayetteville to resume private law practice there. Conway is a Democrat.

How Others Voted on School Issues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas voters voiced confidence in school officials by approving proposed bond issues and tax increases in most communities which sought them in Tuesday's school elections.

Notable exceptions were Pine Bluff, Harrison and Stuttgart.

Ted Lamb, controversial member of the Little Rock School Board won re-election; a Negro candidate finished third in a four-man race at Texarkana and Caraway and Monett voted to end traditional split terms in their election highlights.

Lamb, who has drawn segregationist fire for advocating speedier progress in integration, defeated Dr. James Stuckey 5,046 to 3,985. Stuckey did not mount a personal attack on Lamb, but he called him an extremist for his integration views.

Gerald Goff, the incumbent, won the Texarkana race. J. R. Lilly, the Negro, got only 144 votes. Jack Parker was second with 673 and James Swan trailed with 103.

Little Rock approved the largest bond issue, $4.5 million for construction. A three mill tax increase, with most of the additional money pledged for teacher salaries, also was approved. The

'Nothingness' Is Kiwans Topic

God and history will catch up with those persons who put earthly things ahead of the high values of eternity, the Rev. Mazon Mann told Hope Kiwanis club yesterday.

Kiwanian Ray Turner arranged Tuesday's program. Guests included the Rev. Rufus Sorrells of Hope; Jeff Green of Little Rock and Ralph Harrison of Hope.

Winner Is Against Office of Examiner

Voters in Hope School District 1-A cast ballots against a 5-mill tax increase while Saratoga district residents overwhelmingly approved a 10-mill tax hike and countywide voters made it very plain they were in favor of abolishing the office of county school examiner.

Herbert M. Stephens, Blevins, committed to abolish the office of examiner held by Elmer Brown, had a commanding margin over Dr. Forney Holt, Hope, in countywide balloting. The vote was:

Stephens . . . . . 1,187
Holt . . . . . 875

In District 1-A which includes Fulton voters went almost two to one against a 5-mill tax increase. Fulton voted against the measure 43 to 20.

For Tax . . . . . 397
Against Tax . . . . . 766

At Saratoga all four boxes that includes McNab and Okay voted heavily in favor of a 10 mill tax increase. The vote was:

For 10 Mill Tax . . . . . 236
Against 10 Mill Tax . . . . . 55

Stephens was strongest in Hope which gave him 750 votes to 346 for Holt. Mr. Holt's strongest bid was in the Saratoga area which includes the two Saratoga boxes, McNab and Okay. There he received 247 votes to a mere 35 for Stephens. This is the district in which Milton Peabody lives. Mr. Peabody was a former member of the county board but decided not to seek re-election. Dr. Holt sought the seat. Both Peabody and other rural school superintendents of the county endorsed Dr. Holt by publicly stating that the examiner's office was necessary.

The election of Stephens, supported by the Hope Star, doesn't mean that Supervisor Brown will lose his job. His contract runs through 1963. However this does mean that two members of the five-man board are now pledged to abolish the position.

In other localized voting E. V. Stewart was elected over Worthing Stewart as board member of District 3. Lloyd Tappley defeated Cecil Sanders for the Spring Hill board seat; Dalton Harris defeated Harold E. Young for a seat on the Saratoga District Board while N. B. Coleman defeated J. B. Colman for the Guernsey District board.

Indian Brig. K. A. S. Raja, commanding U.N. operations, reported earlier that Swedish jet fighters attacked the Kolwezi base, northwest of Elisabethville.

He said a Katanga Fouga jet got off the ground but made a forced landing near Luluabourg in adjoining Kasai Province.

On the ground, mortar blasts shook the residential area near U.N. headquarters and an old airport northwest of the city where Katangan forces were deployed.

By JOHN LATZ

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—The Katangan government claimed today that its troops had driven U.N. forces from their headquarters and another stronghold in the Elisabethville area.

Katanga Information Minister Albert Nyembo told newsmen the U.N. had abandoned its headquarters and the Indian Gurkha camp around it and also had withdrawn from the former Lido Hotel, which the U.N. had been using as a rest camp guarded by a small garrison.

There was no word of withdrawals from U.N. spokesman Brian Urquhart, however. He reported only that Katangan artillery had scored hits on the headquarters and the Gurkha camp and that a makeshift bomber had dropped three bombs on the U.N.-held Elisabethville airport without causing damage.

U.N. casualties at the headquarters camp, if any, were not announced.

Indian Brig. K. A. S. Raja, commander of U.N. forces in Katanga, said U.N. jets from Luluabourg, in neighboring Kasai Province, had strafed Katangan Fouga jets at Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville and prevented them from making a planned attack on the U.N. forces at Elisabethville.

Raja said one French-built Fouga took off from Kolwezi but made a forced landing near Luluabourg.

Heavy fighting was reported around the old airport just northwest of the city, where U.N. troops apparently were trying to clear out dug-in Katangan paratroopers. Correspondents David Halberstam of the New York Times and Virgil Berger of Reuters were holed up in a villa near there, cut off since Tuesday afternoon.

Late reports indicated that the center of fighting was moving nearer to Elisabethville.

Sporadic rifle and mortar fire had continued through the night, breaking an uneasy silence which fell on Elisabethville early in the evening after the new outbreak of hostilities.

By the best available count Tuesday night, about 40 persons were killed and more than a score injured. U.N. sources said the dead included six foreign mercenaries and only one U.N. soldier.

The International Red Cross representative charged that U.N. troops were firing on Red Cross

Only a few counties have taken advantage of a law which permits abolishing the supervisor's job which schoolmen think as unnecessary since the school consolidation program in the late 1940s. The supervisor co-ordinates work of all districts in a county but most counties now have less than half a dozen districts.

In another significant school board race, Ray Hambrick defeated Burley Boyd at De Witt. Hambrick received 571 votes to 430 for Boyd in a race for the post being vacated by J. L. Stephenson.

Stephenson and other De Witt board members are defendants in a chancery court suit alleging irregularities in handling school board business, particularly purchasing.

Hambrick campaigned for competitive bidding on purchases. Boyd said he thought the present board was handling the job adequately.

Warren voted for an $850,000 construction bond issue with no tax increase. The count was 212 for the 112 against.

Wayetteville approved a five-mill tax increase and a $750,000 bond issue by a 1,125 to 107 vote, the largest margin of the day. The tax now will be 40 mills.

Alma hiked its millage to 50 with a 10-mill increase to finance a $281,000 building bond issue. The vote was 403-243.

Wayne voted to issue $525,000 in construction bonds by 496-346. Siloam Springs approved a $681,583 refunding bond issue with no tax 500-45.

The Dollarway district, near Pine Bluff, approved a $425,000 bond proposal along with a four-mill tax increase by a 174-141 vote. Dollarway's total millage now is 43.

Huntsville approved a 10-mill tax increase to a total of 40 mills. The vote was 413-181. Huntsville had no bond proposal.

Other districts in which proposals were approved included: Waldron: $218,000 bond issue and eight-mill tax increase to a total of 38, 620 for, 295 against.

Palestine: Ten-mill tax increase to total of 43, for 64, against 23. Atkins: $250,000 bond issue and 10-mill tax increase to total of 40, 265 for to 111 against.

Glenwood: $80,000 bond issue and eight-mill tax increase to total of 41, 129 for to 57 against.

Oak Grove (Greene County): $69,000 bond issue and eight-mill tax increase to total of 45, 74 for to 72 against.

Oseola: $248,000 bond issue and eight-mill tax increase to total of 43, 170 for to 17 against.

Dardanelle: $85,000 bond issue and six-mill tax increase to total of 36, 177 for to 175 against.

Valley View (Craighead County): $100,000 bond issue and six-mill tax increase to total of 36, 195 for to 38 against.

Monette: $200,000 bond issue with no tax increase, 360 for to 101 against.

DeValls Bluff: $200,000 bond issue with six-mill tax increase to total of 38, 493 for to 86 against.

Saratoga (Hempstead County): $150,000 bond issue and 10 - mill tax increase to total of 40, 238 for to 73 against.

Marianna: $200,000 bond issue and three-mill tax increase, 252 for to 73 against.

Caraway voted 172-144 and Monette 227-223 for ending the split terms. Schools in these communities traditionally have started in July, dismissed in September for the cotton harvest and resumed in November.

and Luxembourg.

Neither, Kennedy said, does he propose "that in setting new policies on imports we do away altogether with our traditional safeguards and institutions." He said tariffs can be used to cushion the effects on competitive U.S. industries instead of solely to shut out competition from abroad.

Moreover, he said, the federal government can help affected companies, workers and communities. He told the industrialists he would have more to say on that subject when he addresses the AFL-CIO in Miami Beach, Fla., Thursday.

Kennedy tipped off organized labor that he also would stress in his AFL-CIO speech "its responsibility for price stability" to enable the United States to compete on world markets.

The President acknowledged that his new policy would increase imports but said exports would mount even more. "And we need those imports if other nations are to have the money to buy our exports and the incentive to lower their tariff barriers," he said.

Kennedy made clear that he would press for his administration's proposals to stimulate investment in new equipment by giving tax credits and to close tax loopholes which encourage businessmen to send capital abroad.

At the same time, he said his administration has no thought of "imposing exchange controls, devaluing the dollar, raising trade barriers or choking off our economic recovery."

Kennedy set forth his ideas on global economic fitness after encouraging his countrymen to pay more attention to their own physical fitness.

Loan Approved
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rural Electrification Administration said Monday it has approved a $580,000 loan to the Arkansas Telephone Co. at Clinton, a $41,000 loan to the Four States Telephone of Benton County and a $350,000 loan to the Four States Telephone Co. for Kensett and Imboden. New service is involved in all three cases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illness forced Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to cancel his office appointments again today.

Edwin O. Guthman, department information officer, described the illness as "a huskiness of the voice and a chest cold." He said the ailment, which sent Kennedy home from the Department of Justice Tuesday, is not serious.

At Least He Recognizes His Faults

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My wife left with our three children three months ago. When I finally got her on the phone the other day she said, "I'm not coming back!"

We've been married 15 years. I'm no saint, having been a drinking man, but I love my wife very much. She's a Mama's gal and I am the product of a broken home. My mother was a wonderful woman and brought me and my brother and sister the best she could. It wasn't her fault I turned out as I did.

I've made plenty in my life — plenty to spend on drink. But I always made sure my wife and children had money. Since 1955 I've had the heck of a time finding a decent job until recently. I took whatever I could get so as to send money to my wife. She's with her mother — who never thought much of me and says so. When I'm not working my disposition is rotten and I guess I never knew how to be a father. All I remember of my own Dad is that he was a heavy drinker and used to hit me. I never struck my own children but I did when my wife taunted me about drinking.

Once she took me to law. Then we got along fine until suddenly she walked out. I keep hoping she will come back, with the kids. But she's got them in school in another state. Has she a right to take them away from me when we're not legally separated? I've found a real job now, quit the heavy drinking and fixed up our home toward my family's return. How can I convince my wife that I am — A Changed Man?

Dear Changed Man: Get your wife out from under your mother-in-law's influence. Treat her and the children to a Christmas vacation away from Mama. And don't go yourself. It will take a lot of doing and time to convince your wife that you have reformed. Meanwhile, break the ice by giving. Drop all talk of her coming home — at least for the present. Stick to your course and don't hurry matters. Decads, not words, count. Membership in Alcoholics Anonymous would help you.

Dear Helen: My boy friend's parents are moving away and he is going too. This impending separation has made us think seriously of marriage. But, I am only 16 and he 18. We don't want to hurt our parents by running off. We have talked to our school advisers and minister, but feel we need help from someone who doesn't know us. Any advise you can give us would be appreciated by — A Couple of Mixed-Up Teen-agers.

Dear Mixed-Up: There are two sides to every marriage; the romantic and the practical. It's all very well to talk of love — and I'm sure you do love one another very much, but, why risk your future happiness, sacrifice your education and hurt your parents just because you can't face a temporary separation?

Let your boy friend go and get on with the work at hand — your schooling. Your love, if real, will be all the stronger for the parting.

Dear Helen: I am a girl of 13 with an 11-year-old brother who's driving me nuts. In two weeks I am giving a dance and, to keep him from embarrassing me, intend to let him run the record player. But, from sad experience, I know this Eager Beaver will throw a monkey wrench in my party.

He fights, mimics and pokes fun at me and my friends every chance he gets. This makes me so nervous I start crying and lock myself in my room. I don't want to do this the night of the party. My parents say ignore the imp. I can't. — Desperate Sis.

Dear Sis: Ask your Dad to help Brother run the record player and be responsible for him generally. It's time Eager Beaver had a lesson in manners. As a member of the family, it is his obligation, as well as yours, to make the party a success.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Write her care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Today's offering: "Manners And Young People."

Remove One Tax, Boost Another

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A federal Treasury official said here over the weekend that in order to eliminate the federal income tax, a 30 per cent sales tax would be required.

Joseph Barr, undersecretary of the Treasury, told the Arkansas County Treasurers convention that such a large sales tax would be necessary to replace loss of income tax revenues.

Barr said this would be a form of taxing a consumer without taxing one's wealth.

U. S., Israel to Clash Over Arabs

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and Israel headed today for an open clash with the Arab world over how to help the 1,500,000 Palestine Arab refugees.

The General Assembly's special political committee was to take up the annual report of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Arab refugees. In its director John H. Davis of the United States endorsed a 13-year-old assembly decision that the estimated 1,500,000 refugees of the 1948 Arab-Israeli war should be given the choice between going home to Israel or taking compensation for the property they left there.

Saudi Arabian delegate Ahmad Shukairy planned to insist that the refugees should be given this choice. Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir was expected to set forth Israel's stand that it is willing to help compensate the refugees but not to take them in for fear they would endanger its security.

Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and the United Arab Republic, hosts to the refugees, were working on a resolution to increase the membership of the conciliation commission from three to nine and give equal representation to Communist Western and neutral countries.

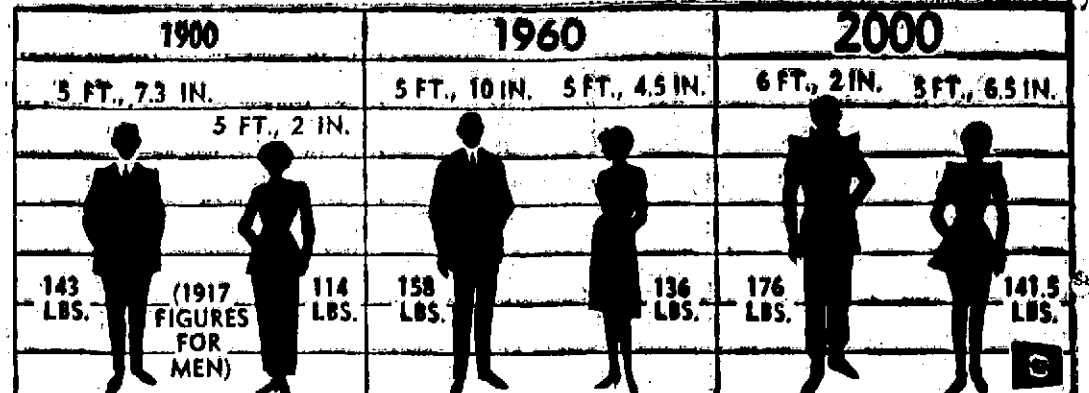

The United States, which now sits on the commission along with France and Turkey, is against such a troika setup.

Some African and Latin American countries are working on a third resolution to call on Israel and the Arab countries to negotiate on all outstanding issues.

Editor Dies

BROOKSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Almon Brooks Wilder Sr., 59, editor and publisher of the Brooksville Sun-Journal, died at his home Sunday.

Wilder moved to Brooksville in 1958 from Rogers, Ark. Early in 1959 he purchased the Brooksville Sun, a weekly paper, and merged it with the Brooksville Journal, another weekly he bought in the late spring of that year.

A GROWING NATION—Americans are not only growing in numbers but in size, as well. If trends of the past half-century continue—and advances in diet and nutrition make this likely—the average male in the year 2000 will be four inches taller and nearly 20 pounds heavier than his counterpart today. Newschart, based on statistics and predictions by a men's knitwear maker and a foundation garment manufacturer, shows how both women and men have grown taller and heavier since 1900 and 1917, respectively. Figures on men's waistlines show the same trend: 1917—28 inches; 1960—35 inches; 2000—42 inches.

Chapter XXI

Cornelia had not inherited her cousin's money until just before her marriage, and if it had been such a thunderbolt to both her and Margaret, Philip, a total stranger to Miss Trumbull, could not possibly have known about it in advance. And any other prediction was unthinkable.

He had lived in Connecticut at one time, of course, but the chances of his having known one elderly woman there so intimately that he was familiar with the contents of her will were so remote as to be impossible.

Besides, $50,000 really was not that much money, not with present living costs and to a man of Philip's tastes. Cornelia had some stock, of course, as had Margaret; it had been left to them by their parents.

Hilary's remembered voice said like a knell, "Mrs. Foale heralded money."

Even if Philip could have coaxed Mrs. Foale's inheritance out of her, the fact that she was abroad was proof that he hadn't. A young woman of wealth would hardly have married a man of Hadley Foale's age, and people didn't go to Europe on a shoe-string. Nor did they stand contentedly by while the man who had bedded them married someone younger and prettier.

Mrs. Foale's face, at the wedding.

She brushed Hilary's pillow-matted hair, over Hilary's assertion that she had a very tender scalp, and dispatched her to the bathroom to put on fresh pajamas while she changed the sheets and remade the bed. The puppet Mrs. Foale fell in a disjuncted heap on the floor, clattering unpleasantly, and she put it on the bureau after an instantly-averted glance at its face. Hilary's scarpbook emerged from under the pillow. Margaret picked it up and flipped the pages swiftly.

There was nothing new after the handkerchief, but Hilary had penciled something on the facing page in wavy light almost invisible writing. Margaret bent closer and read: "Letter in 1 out w."

When Hilary came in Margaret was sliding a fresh case over the pillow and turning back the sheets; the scarpbook was on the bedside table. "Jump in," said Margaret, falsely bright, "and after I take your temperature I'll get us some lunch."

Letter in 1 out w. Add "I" cross out "w" in some sort of written code Hilary had hatched up? No, Hilary would never waste her time on anything so childish as codes. She was staring straight ahead of her like an image, the thermometer all but swallowed between her compressed lips, and Margaret glanced rovingly around the room. Everything seemed in order.

"You have another minute to go," Margaret said lightly. "I'll be right back."

Rapidly, silent as a thief, she went out the kitchen door and around the house until she was under Hilary's south window, the one whose screen had been unlatched by Hilary the night before. The window looked deceptively low-set from inside the room; the construction of the house made it a good six feet to the curved aforesaid sill. Margaret did not have to search far. Dried leaves had drifted about in the night, but with the sun overhead the shadow of the house was wiped out and she saw the wink of gold at once.

It was a lipstick case, empty, only a shell of gilded metal. Margaret fitted the top back on, dropped it into her pocket, and entered the house as cautiously as she had left it. Hilary's temperature was a little under 102.

Margaret put the thermometer away and took the lipstick case out of her pocket. She said very casually, "Is this what you threw out the window last night?"

Hilary communed suspiciously with herself and nodded. "Where did you find it?" "In the piano."

Margaret was thoughtful. Hilary had never lied directly to her; like a conscientious adult, she had taken refuge in evasions and confusing half-statements. "Whereabouts in the piano?"

"Well, I happened to hit a key one day and it sounded sort of quavery, so I opened up that little part that lifts up—I thought I could fix it," said Hilary virtuously, "and there was this lip-stick."

"And what was in it?" "Nobody would put anything in an old lipstick."

"Hilary, I happen to know there was a letter in it. What did you do with it?" After a long pause Hilary said "I threw that out the window, too. It isn't nice to read other people's mail."

However much earlier Hilary had found the lipstick, she hadn't discovered its significance until moments before Margaret had opened her door the night before; otherwise she would have had it safely stowed away somewhere.

Top Labor Leaders Are Divided

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—A fast-broadening rift appeared to be developing today between two of organized labor's top leaders—AFL-CIO President George Meany and Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther.

It has been no secret the two men haven't gotten along particularly well for some time. Now they've taken to exchanging potshots publicly.

Meany told reporters over the weekend that Reuther, head of the old CIO until Meany got the top job of the merged labor movement six years ago, is chief among union leaders who have been negligent in organizing activities.

Reuther retorted today through a spokesman for his union that Meany's criticism was untrue and intended merely to cover up failure of the AFL-CIO itself to engage in new member recruitment.

The spokesman also said the Auto Workers Union has substantially organized its jurisdiction, except in the white collar field. The Reuther spokesman flatly denied an assertion by Meany that Reuther has sharply cut down his organizing staff. The spokesman said there had been no staff reduction since the 1958 recession era.

More sparring between the two union leaders seems sure to develop at the AFL-CIO convention opening here Thursday.

Meany had a problem on his hands in another sector. James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union also is holding an executive board meeting at nearby Miami Beach. Hoffa is taking advantage of the situation to call in AFL-CIO friends in an effort to get the Teamsters back into the federation.

Hoffa flatly predicted that an end of the four-year-old Teamsters exile is inevitable. His chances seem slim during the current union meetings, but Hoffa said he was encouraged by a conditional reaffirmation bid voted by the AFL-CIO building trades unions last week.

Meany was said to have written a way that Hoffa would have to quit as Teamsters president before his union could be considered for readmission.

Election Contest Before Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ordered appeals in two Greene County election contest suits today to complete appeal records in compliance with court rules.

Mayor Charles A. Wood and Alderman Robert H. Harrison had asked the court to waive a rule which requires that transcripts include only original copies of pleadings and testimony. Their appeals included some photostatic copies.

Wood was beaten by J. T. Brown and Harris lost to George Textor in last summer's city elections at Paragould.

Wood and Harris appealed the election results to Greene Circuit Court and lost. The election results were also upheld by the County Democratic Central Committee.

Top College Cage Teams to Meet Early

GBY BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Mighty Ohio State, led by 1960-61 player of the year Jerry Lucas, goes against Pitt tonight in an expected warm-up for Saturday's important clash with Wake Forest, the top game of college basketball's early season schedule.

The Buckeyes, ranked first in an Associated Press preseason poll, handled Florida State with ease in their only outing this season, but could have a tougher time with Pitt, which lost its opener to a good Purdue team, 86-70.

Wake Forest, No. 3 in the preseason poll, won its second straight with ease Tuesday night, a 77-65 triumph over North Carolina State.

The Deacons broke open a tight game early in the second half and raced out in front, leading at times by 16 points. Lynn Chappell, a burly 6-foot-8, tossed in 28 Cincinnati, displaying midseason form and using substitutes much of the way, humbled Miami of Ohio 63-30. The Bearcats, who include the overtime upset of Ohio State in last season's NCAA championship final in their 24 straight victories, put the accent on defense in the slow-moving game.

In other top games, seventh-ranked Duke set a school scoring record in a 117-72 conquest of Davidson, strong West Virginia raced past Virginia Military 96-56. Southern Methodist disappointed hopeful Oklahoma 61-52, and North Carolina edged Clemson 54-52.

In other major games, Washington beat Montana 73-57. Loyola of Chicago breezed past South Dakota 104-63. The Citadel beat William & Mary 83-76. Butler rapped New Mexico State 77-55. Colgate outlasted Columbia 75-73. Oklahoma State—with Moe Iba, son of coach Hank Iba, contributing 17 points—won its second straight, 65-57 over Texas Western, Texas A&M used a second-half rally to beat Houston 64-49 and San Francisco beat West Texas 100-51 with Bob Gaillard hitting for 41 points.

Poor Season But Baylor Is in a Bowl

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor, which had a poor season when the win-loss record is considered but was picked for a bowl game because of its exciting offense, flies out this afternoon for New York where it will play Utah State in the new Gotham Bowl.

Utah State, which had a 9-0-1 record and was ranked tenth in the nation, left its home bound for the big city Tuesday night. So it will be there practicing at the Polo Grounds, scene of the game, when the Golden Bears arrive.

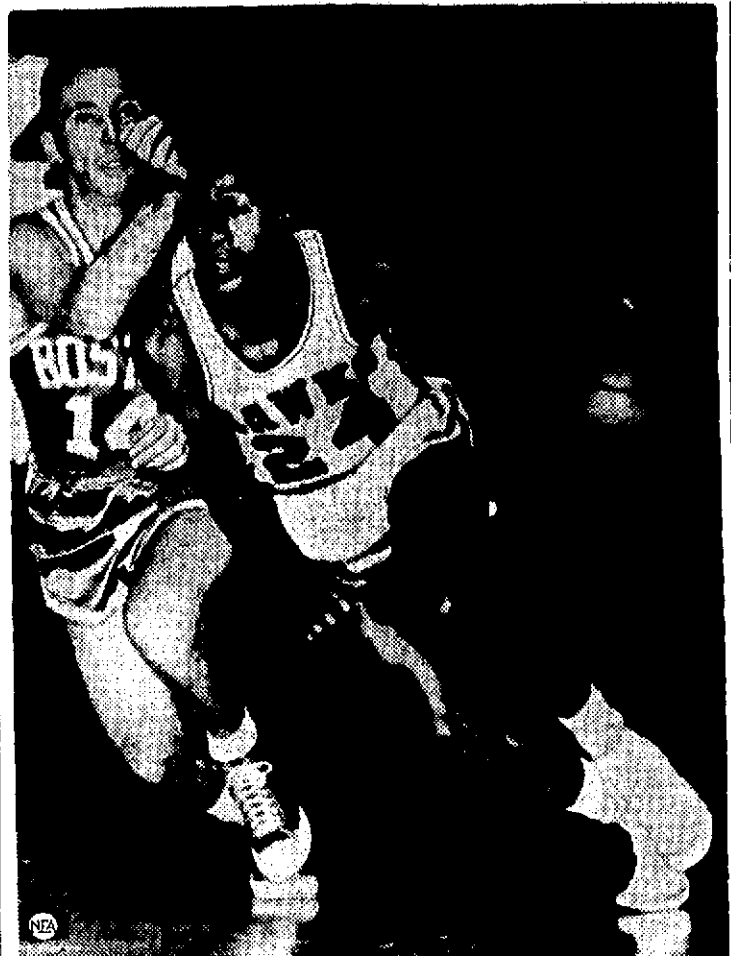

Baylor had a 5-5 record but while it didn't have the defense to stop anybody much it had an offense that kept the crowd on its toes. The Bears scored 19 more points than last year's Gator Bowl team that had an 8-2 record. It rolled up 235 more yards on the ground, scored five more touchdowns through the air and led the Southwest Conference in passing by completing five more throws than last year.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, five-time Western Division champions of the National Basketball Association, now rest in fourth place in the five-team division.

Silvius Green, a former Hawk now playing for the new Chicago Packers, hit a tie-breaking basket with four seconds left that brought the Packers a 101-99 verdict over St. Louis in the first game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Tuesday night. Philadelphia beat New York 122-105 in the second game and at Portland, Ore., Elgin Baylor rallied Los Angeles to a 125-120 victory over Syracuse.

Philadelphia broke a 52-52 half-time deadlock with a 42-point burst in the third quarter that put it out of reach. Wilt Chamberlain had 39 points and 22 rebounds for the winners.

Baylor wound up with 45 points, 10 in a row in the last quarter, as Los Angeles fattened its Western Division lead to 4½ games over Cincinnati.

Rice Coach to Talk at P. B.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Pine Bluff will celebrate "Robert Johnston Appreciation Night" Dec. 21 to honor the football and academic star it sent to Rice University four years ago.

Rice Coach Jess Neely will head the list of special guests at a banquet sponsored by The Pine Bluff Commercial.

Johnston, one of Arkansas' most sought-after prep athletes in the 1958 recruiting season, chose Rice because he plans a career in engineering.

He became a three-year regular at tackle with the Owls and was named to the all-Southwest Conference team this year.

But his greatest honor was selection as scholar-athlete of the year. He received a $500 Red Blaik fellowship in New York Tuesday night.

An "A" student at Rice, Johnston was elected chairman of the Honor Council and admitted to Tau Beta Pi, an engineering honor society which parallels Phi Beta Kappa in the liberal arts field.

At Pine Bluff High, Johnston twice was named to the all-state team. The 6-4, 220-pound athlete also was valedictorian and president of his senior class.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks began Sugar Bowl training on a limited scale Monday.

Coach Frank Broyles worked with the third team and the reserve corps on Alabama plays. The first and second teams will begin work until next Monday, Broyles said.

This week the third unit and reserves will try to become adept at simulating the Alabama offense and defense, for use against the first and second units when drills get down to serious business.
